SUSTCULT FINAL CONFERENCE

“We make a change in the management of cultural heritage”

08 April 2014

Ljubljana, Slovenia

Grand Hotel Union Business, Miklosiceva 3

The SUSTCULT project “achieving SUSTainability through an integrated approach to the management of CULTural heritage” co-financed by the SEE transnational cooperation programme, after more than three years of intense activity is organising its Final Conference in Ljubljana (Slovenia).

The Project, gathering 12 European partners and led by the City of Venice, focused on integrated and innovative approaches and tools for improving cultural heritage site management throughout the SEE region.

SUSTCULT partners shared a common challenge: to strengthen cultural heritage management as an integral part of the sustainable development process of urban centres and surrounding areas and as a driver for boosting local economies. During project lifetime project partners have successfully experimented participative approaches in decision-making during the process of heritage management planning.

On the 8th of April 2014 the project will organise its Final Conference: this event will give further insights into the results of the project, analyse funding opportunities and look at future potential project ideas. The Conference will bring together international organisations, European networks, government officials, other European cultural projects and cultural organisations to share best practices and solutions to heritage site protection and promotion issues.
